Washington Will Talk MATTINGS

The Entire Period of This Sale.

"The Busy Corner" Announces Its Latest Phenomenal Purchase.

1,300 rolls of Chinese and Japanese mattings, bought for little and offered at the same ratio. A tremendous purchase—a tremendous sale. Qualities that would bring market prices the year round. The great warehouses of Lawrence, Son & Garrish, matting importers, suffered from fire very recently. At that time 20,000 or more rolls of new imported mattings were in the building. A weeding of the stock left 8,000 rolls without spot or blemish and 4,500 rolls slightly damaged, but none the worse for their experience. A peremptory sale of the stock took place Thursday last at Field, Chapman & Co., Auctioneers. Our buyer was on hand early and secured 1,300 rolls of the creamest and such mattings they are—such patterns, weavings and qualities as you never saw. Every yard of them good, sound Japanese and Chinese mattings. The list of prices below tells and comparison proves that these prices are anyway from 25 per cent to 33 per cent less than any American importer can sell the same goods for. About 50 per cent less than any retailer could offer them.

Doesn't the conditions and great demand for the goods offered compel you to buy? You'd better. After this stock is gone you'll see prices bounce sky high.

A Bill to Regulate Practice in the District.

Examiners to Be Under the Jurisdie tion of the Commissioners-Applleations to Be Made by Those Who Desire Licenses-Professional Qualifications Necessary-Annual Tests.

Mr. Cochran has introduced in the House a bill to regulate the practice of veterinary medicine in the District of Columbia. The purpose of the measure is to surround the medical treatment of animals with some of the safeguards which have been employed to protect the humankind. The bill provides, in the first instance that no person shall practice veterinary medicine in the District of Columbia without having obtained and registered a li-

A board of examiners is also created by the bill, to consist of five reputable practitioners, appointed by the District Comssioners each having been a resident of the District for three years prior to his appointment, and having been actively en-

Any person desiring to enter upon the practice of veterinary medicine in the District, the bill provides, shall make application to this board of examiners for a liform prescribed by the board, and shall be accompanied by a fee of $10. The grounds upon which the license may be granted are satisfactory evidence of good moral character, a diploma issued from some college authorized to give diplomas, and three years' study of veterinary medicine. The bill further provides for the or-ganization of the board of examiners, prescribes their duties, and authorizes the payment of actual expenses incurred out of the returns from ficense fees. In case a surplus is left at the end of the year it is provided that the District Commission-ers may pay such portion of it as may be thought proper to the members of the board as recompense for their services. ense for their service aminers shall ascertain the profession qualifications of all applicants for license by examination. The board also is empowered to issue licenses to all applicants found, in the judgment of the board, competent to practice veterinary medicine. The examination of applicants is to be held each year in the months of April, July, October, and January. It shall include all such subjects as are ordinarily included in the curricula of the veterinary colleges. It is further provided that qualifications of all applicants for license nary colleges. It is further provided that the board shall keep accurate record of its

The proposed measure further provides that licenses may be issued at the discre-tion of the board of examiners to any licentiate of an official examiner of any State or Territory, who may desire to practice in the District of Columbia, if the State or Territorial board grants equal privileges to the licentiates of the Board of Examin-

MANY POLICEMEN OFF DUTY. Illness Prevents the Men From Performing Active Service.

Reports received yesterday at Police eterinary medicine in the State or Terri-ory in which he has resided, by the pay-nent of a suitable fee and by evidence as Headquariers indicate a number of policemen away from duty. Among those absent over a score of them are sick. The absentees are apportioned among the various stations. Lieut. J. A. Swindells is ment of a suitable fee and by evidence as to the privileges which licentiates will receive in State or Territory.

It is further provided that actual practitioners in the District, on the passage of the bill, who held diplomas from trustworthy sources, shall upon the presentation of the requisite proofs, be registered and licensed without formal examination.

It is also set forth in the proposed bill that any person having been rejected as an applicant by the Board of Examiners may appeal from the decision of the board to the Commissioners of the District, when a hearing is to be granted and the Comaway from the Seventh precinct on ac count of illness, and the station is temporarily in charge of Acting Lieut. which was granted and credit given the Fidelity for that amount on its books. Later Harper fraudulently caused the officers of his own bank to give him individually credit on its book for $300,000 and personally used the money. The $300,600 in the Chemical Bank was checked out by the officials of the Fidelity Bank on its own checks. When the Fidelity failed, the Chemical Bank put in its claim for $300.000 which was resisted by the receiver on two grounds: The Garbage-Destroying Plant Pro-wo grounds: One that Harper was not authorized to et for the bank in making the loan; that Commissioner Wight and Health Office Woodward returned from Adanta last act for the bank in making the loan; that the money was used in a dishonest scheme of his own. The other that the Fidelity Bank was not liable for the loan because the corporation had no power to borrow that sum if its officers had asked for it. They found the system of garbage col ection and reduction working satisfactorily, and were highly pleased with the results of their trip. In brief, they inspect ed a system of garbage disposal, including ashes, and miscellaneous waste and refuse, which practically gets rid of all dirt at a cost not exceeding 60 cents per capita of the population.

The plan of operations in Atlanta as described by Dr. Woodward consists of two branches—the collection of refuse and its cremation at the furnace. The former branch of the work is carried on by the city, the carts and horses being the prop-erty of the municipality, and the men be-ing employes of the health department. There are three sets of carts—one for ashes, one for miscellaneous waste, and ashes, one for miscellaneous waste, and one for other refuse. The city is regularly cleaned by districts at stated intervals. Garbage is taken away every day, and ashes three times a week.

All the refuse but ashes is taken to the crematory, which is located in the very centre of the city, two blocks from the depot, and other burned. A Destitute Mother and Two Sick Children Evicted.

Harriet Smith's Misfortunes Rendered Her Unable to Pay Rent. Furniture Set on the Sidewalk. She Is Rescued by the Timely Offices of a Sympathetic Citizen.

A sad case of destitution and sickness was brought to light yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Harriet Smith, a respectable colored woman, lived with her husband and two children at 1013 Sixteenth Street northwest. They were able to maintain a modest home, and with the assistance derived from renting several rooms were in a comfortable condition.

Several weeks ago their two children were stricken with scarlet fever. The lodgers left the house because of the contagion. The husband lost his position and was unable to secure further work. Last week he went to Annapolis in the hope of finding employment there. Mrs. Smith was left alone to provide for and nurse her sick

Yesterday afternoon she had but 15 cents with which to buy food and medicine. Herrent had not been paid and the agent or landlord of the property sent several men to remove her furniture from the house. Mrs. Smith begged them to permit her to stay one day longer as in that time she said she would try to provide a place for herself and children. The men refused and proceeded to move her household goods from the premises. The goods were placed on the parking adjoining the side walk, The sight of a crying woman, scantily ad, amid a confused collection of household goods was a novel sight to the residents in the vicinity of Sixteenth and K streets northwest and attracted a crowd of 600 people. Many expressions of sympathy were heard and some threats were made. The agents of the property were severely scored for their apparent lack of feeling in urning a women with her sick children

Suit was filed in equity yesterday by Ale Rollins, Lena Rollins Kesterson, and husband, James E. Kesterson, against Daniel Rollins, sr., and Daniel Rollins, jr., espectively father and brother of the first named complainants, and others, asking that Daniel Rollins, jr., be enjoined from disposing of certain property owned by the elder Rollins of the same name. The plainants are represented by Messrs.

complanants are represented by Messrs. Wolf and Rosenberg.

It is explained that the defendant Daniel Rollins, sr., is 102 years of age, and resides in Chicago. It is also stated that he is unable to read or write; that he has been blind for five years or longer. It is also alleged that about five years ago Dan-iel Rollins, jr., induced his father to leave the District and go to Chicago, where he now lives with Fannie Brown, a daughter by his first wife. Knowing that his father was possessed of valuable real estate in the District, it is claimed that Daniel Rollins, ir., and Fannie Brown conceived a scheme to degrive the other heirs of the defendant Daniel Rollins, sr., of their interest in the property.

Many suggestions were made by the bystanders, but none offered any material assistance. William F. Downey, who conducts a livery stable in L. Street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, passed at the time. Learning the cause of the woman's trouble, he immediately offered to have her furniture placed in storage, and after this matter had been attended to assisted her to find a place of refuge. This was obtained through a distant relative of Mrs. Smith, who tendered herself and children a temporary home. Before leaving Mr. Downey gave the woman $5.

In speaking of the matter last night Mr. Downey said that he had done nothing more than his duty. He said, however, that the case was extremely aggravating and heartless.
